

Dynamic map-based coordination for smarter, safer streets!

events management module

With Envista’s map-based coordination, you can manage special events—including parades, road races, and festivals—with greater efficiency and assurance of public safety. Envista automatically identifies event locations on an online map and alerts you to related street impacts such as detours, parking restrictions, variable message signs, traffic officers, and more.

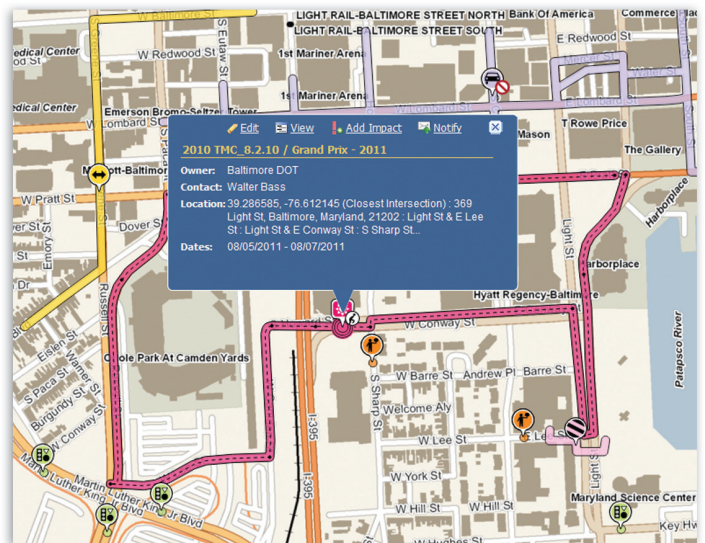

Envista provides municipalities with a dynamic, map-based web solution to plan and coordinate all types of events, from routing and permitting to logistics, traffic management and public safety. Every department involved with or affected by the event gains visibility to relevant details that are location- and time-specific.

To further enhance the efficiency of event management, Envista enables you to import street construction and maintenance projects from other organizations, such as public works and local utilities. Project details from these other entities are overlaid on the Envista map so you can instantly see where and when they occur. The application automatically checks for conflicts with planned events and related impacts to avoid routing traffic through construction areas. The solution can be customized to ensure that every possible conflict is flagged and each designated stakeholder is instantly notified in the field if necessary.

In addition, Envista offers a “public view” capability, which allows you to post event information and related street restrictions online. Users can select the data appropriate for public viewing and determine the frequency of updates.

Use case:

The City of Baltimore, Maryland has installed the Envista Street events module in its Transportation Services Department and recently utilized this map-based solution to manage all its events in the right-of-way.
